

PILOT BOARD MUST DECIDE.

Who Is to Blame for the Pequot-Hamburg Collision?

Both Vessels Badly Injured and Left Up.

The Providence line freighter Pequot lies at the Barclay street dock this morning with a big rent in her port bow, extending back twenty feet and her great oak stem broken off ten feet above the water line.

The damage was caused by a collision in the North River about 8 o'clock last evening between the Pequot and the Hoboken ferry-boat Hamburg, which is tied up at her dock in Hoboken with her starboard cabin crushed in and thirty feet of her rail stove.

The collision might have occasioned an appalling loss of life on board the Hamburg. As it was, two passengers were badly injured.

Walter Settle, who lives at Park avenue and sixth street, Hoboken, received a very painful injury on the knee.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, of Jefferson street, Hoboken, was badly cut about the face by broken glass.

Several other passengers were less severely hurt.

This morning the officials of both companies place the blame on the other.

President J. W. Miller, of the Providence line, said:

"When the Pequot left her pier last night her pilot blew the long whistle as usual. She had hardly cleared her dock when the Hamburg was seen coming up stream on her usual course."

Capt. Racket, of the Pequot, tells me that the Hamburg blew once, which meant that the Pequot could cross her bow. The Pequot answered with one whistle, and then the ferry-boat gave two blasts, meaning that her pilot had changed his mind and wanted the right of way.

The Pequot's engines were stopped at once and the helm put hard to port, swinging her head up stream, and thus preventing her striking the ferry-boat, which was on, which would have been most serious.

Pilot William Davis, of the ferry-boat Hamburg, denied to an EVENING WORLD reporter that he first blew once, thus giving the Pequot the right to cross his bow.

He declares that he gave two blasts of the horn, signifying that the Pequot was coming out from her dock.

Pilot Davis moreover denies that the Pequot blew the long whistle as usual. The Pequot's signal, which was given, was a blast. In answer to the Hamburg's signal that she would take the right of way in front of the Pequot,

The latter will come up before the Pilot Board to-day.

JUMEL ESTATE LITIGATION.

Suit Arising from the Property Left by Aaron Burr's Wife.

(By Associated Press.)
UTICA, Dec. 7.—Before Judge Cox, in the United States District Court, yesterday, argument was heard on the action of Pierre de Chamour, administrator of Charles de Chamour's estate, against Douglass Campbell, New York lawyer, and Frank A. Gushue.

The action involves about $60,000, and arises from the famous Jumel litigation, involving the title to a large amount of property in the upper part of New York City in the possession of Nelson Chase and others, who obtained title from Maria Jumel, the wife of Aaron Burr.

ALLEGED POPULIST PLOT.

To Decide Kansas Election Contests and Control the Legislature.

(By Associated Press.)
TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 7.—The Populists have a new scheme to control the lower house of the legislature.

The Secretary of State is a Populist, and it is said the Populist managers have determined that when he calls the roll no small call the names of several Populists as representatives of those districts in which they claim to represent the people, and have word only control of the roll-call.

By this means the Populists would have the temporary organization of the house, permitting them to call in all the Populists and thus securing the ultimate permanent organization to their party.

The scheme is a bold one, but no one seems able to suggest a counter to it.

Held on Two Charges.

George Williams, the thief who broke into the apartments of Patrick Govenor, ex-rector of the Herkimer County Board of Freeholders, while the latter was in his saloon in Jersey City yesterday, was held on two charges in Justice O'Connell's Court this morning.

It was also said that Mr. Sheehan had come to extend the olive branch, and had powers extraordinary to make a treaty of peace.

The Lieutenant-Governor was called in this morning. He declined to discuss politics, but said he would not visit Mr. Cleveland, or that he had been delegated for that purpose at the conference held yesterday in Albany, between Gov. Flower, Richard Croker, Edward Murphy, Jr., and George W. Farnsworth.

It was also said that Mr. Sheehan had come to extend the olive branch, and had powers extraordinary to make a treaty of peace.

Flower, Richard Croker, Edward Murphy, Jr., and George W. Farnsworth.

It was also said that Mr. Sheehan had come to extend the olive branch, and had powers extraordinary to make a treaty of peace.

Among the interesting group concerning Mr. Sheehan was a statement that in the event of the resignation of David B. Hill as Senator, which it is asserted will be made next week, the compromise would be effected. Edward Murphy, Jr., will be the choice of the Republicans, and thus both sides will be represented in the opposition to Mr. Murphy's "any way" world.

Not that the opposition would imperil its success, but it is said to involve the recognition of Mr. Murphy's followers in the matter of patronage from the incoming Administration.

This matter, it is reported, was considered at the meeting of the Senate yesterday, according to the same authority.

Mr. Murphy, who is a member of the United States Senate to succeed Frank H. T. Broome, has decided to stand for re-election.

Leadership is to come to New York City, and the official candidate of the New York City organization, Assemblyman William S. Brewster, is to be chosen in the place.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a positive cure for all those painful complaints of the female sex.

Mr. Murphy, who was Secretary of Mr. Sheehan's Campaign Committee during the last election, is to go with Mr. Sheehan in the Senate, and that body in place of Charles F. Durbin.

Mr. Murphy is a member of the American Medical Association, and is particularly interested in the work of the American Medical Association.
